Boilerplate

Porch Punkin is a seasonal, direct-to-door fall porch styling service based in Oklahoma City. Customers pick a package or build their own, choose a weekly delivery window between October 1 and mid-November, and the crew arrives with hand-selected pumpkins, ghost and heirloom varieties, straw bales, corn stalk bundles and potted mums, then arranges the display on the porch, usually in 30 to 60 minutes. Post-season pickup and recycling is available as an add-on.

Story angles

- The fall version of a Christmas light installer.
- What a styled porch actually costs in OKC — full pricing is published.
- Where OKC pumpkins come from, and where they go in November.
- Neighborhood block orders: three porches on one street book together.
- Porches as realtor closing gifts and long-distance family gifts.
